COUNTRY Financial agents are cheerleaders for local team

The Kaneland Youth Football League Sapphire Cheer Squad got a boost recently from agents in the COUNTRY Financial Batavia office. The squad is the first in KYFL history to have a bid to State Competition. The squad is coached by Alyssa Powell, COUNTRY Financial Batavia agency assistant; Christie Brandenburg, Heather Fiordiroso and high school coaches Abi Burroughs and Keelyn Devine.

Batavia agents Greg LeBeau,

Andy Johnson, Kevin Laurie and Zach Fox donated the funds to cover state competition registration fees. The state cheer competition will be held the first weekend in December at Northern Illinois University. Good luck, KYFL Sapphire Cheer Squad!

COUNTRY Financial is an insurance and financial services company formed by Farm Bureau in 1925 to meet the insurance needs of Farm Bureau members.

KCFB Pollinator/Rain Garden project to be shared at convention

Kane County Farm Bureau's "Pollinator/Rain Garden - Public Planting" event was chosen by the American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF) as one of 2020's "County Activities of Excellence" (CAE) in October of last year. With the COVID-19 pandemic in full swing in January 2021, AFBF opted to hold its annual convention virtually, and KCFB hosted a virtual exhibit of the program idea. Now, in January 2022, KCFB leaders will have the opportunity to travel to Atlanta to share their experience in-person as AFBF returns to a live conference format.

The annual CAE program recognizes and shares innovative county Farm Bureau programs and activities from around the nation. For 2020 AFBF chose only 12 county Farm Bureau programs for recognition.

The American Farm Bureau Federation County Activities of Excellence (CAE) Awards celebrate unique, volunteer-driven programming at the local level. The CAE program categorizes county activities into the following areas: Education and Ag Promotion, Member Services, Public Relations and Information, Leadership Development and Policy Implementation.

Just in time for Christmas!

November 2021

In accordance with the bylaws of the Kane County Farm Bureau, notice is hereby given to voting members that the following proposed amendments to the bylaws of said association will be voted upon by the Board of Directors of the Association at their regular monthly meeting, Thursday, December 16, 2021 at 7:00 p.m. at the Kane County Farm Bureau, 2N710 Randall Rd., St. Charles, Illinois. Proposed new language is underlined and language to be stricken is in ~~strikeout~~ format.

Michael J. Kenyon, Secretary
Kane County Farm Bureau

To: Kane County Farm Bureau Voting Members

The notice above informs voting members of the Board of Directors' intent to vote on amendments to the bylaws of the Kane County Farm Bureau at their regular meeting on Thursday, December 16, 2021. These amendments were drafted by the Illinois Farm Bureau's Office of General Counsel and have been recommended for approval by the organization's Board of Directors.

Following this notification to the voting members of the association, the Board of Directors will take a final vote on these amendments on December 16. A 2/3 vote of the entire number of Directors is required for passage. No action is required on your part.

The proposed amendments update the bylaws to establish a system of at-large representation on the Board of Directors of your association by eliminating Director Districts. Upon passage of the proposed amendments, the Board of Directors will take up the discussion of the nominating policies necessary to implement this governance change, and to further remove the Board of Directors from nomination/election processes.

If you have questions please feel free to call our office (630) 584-8660 and ask for Manager Steve Arnold, or call your District Kane County Farm Bureau Director at the number listed in the monthly Kane County Farmer.

Sincerely,
Joe White

The KCFB lawn is again a small forest of Christmas cheer with the arrival of Mark's Christmas Trees. The Monday before Thanksgiving was set up day for Denise (inset left) and Harold Marks, Jr. and crew, with fresh Wisconsin trees being unloaded and uprighted in stands across the lawn. The Marks also have fragrant wreaths, greens, decorative birch bundles and more to decorate your December.

Welcome new members

You receive the Kane County Farmer because you are a Farm Bureau member. If you are a farm operator or owner, you benefit from a local, state and national organization committed to agriculture and your way of life.

If you do not have direct ties to farming, your membership helps promote local farms and farming, encourages wise use of our limited natural resources and preserves farmland and our agricultural heritage while allowing you to enjoy COUNTRY insurance and the many benefits of one of Illinois' premier membership organizations.

We appreciate your membership and continued support and we welcome your comments on the content of the Farmer. We encourage you to make recommendations about farm, home, food, natural resources, renewable energy or agricultural heritage and history-related topics for inclusion in future issues of the Farmer.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS to the BYLAWS of KANE COUNTY FARM BUREAU ~~Strikeout~~ New language
To be considered and voted upon at the December 16, 2021 meeting of the Board of Directors

ARTICLE II
Members

Section 11. Election of Directors. ~~For purposes of elections, the county shall be divided into five (5) Districts, as follows: District 1, Big Rock, Sugar Grove, and Aurora townships. District 2, Kaneville, Blackberry, and Geneva/Batavia townships. District 3, Virgil, Campton, and St. Charles townships. District 4, Burlington, Plato, and Elgin townships. District 5, Hampshire, Rutland, and Dundee townships. The members of the Board of Directors will be elected by and from the membership at-large of this Farm Bureau. Each District shall be represented by up to three (3) directors.~~

Section 12. Nomination. Prior to each annual meeting the Board of Directors shall appoint a Nominating Committee consisting of five (5) voting members in good standing of this Farm Bureau. ~~The Board will endeavor to appoint Nominating Committee members from diverse geographic areas of the county, and insofar as possible, one shall reside in each District.~~ The Nominating Committee shall be responsible for nominating qualified individuals to stand for election to the board.

The Nominating Committee shall, after appointment, elect a chairperson from among their members, and determine possible candidates for the position of ~~district~~ director, establish that the candidates meet the qualifications to serve as directors of this Farm Bureau and are willing to serve as directors, and submit the names of the prospective candidates to the Board of Directors. ~~Every effort should be made by the nominating committee to have each township represented by a director. The nominating committee will endeavor to nominate diverse candidates, including but not limited to geographic diversity, farming operation type, operation size and gender.~~ The Board of Directors shall authorize the President or the Secretary to notify each voting member in good standing of the report of the nominating committee ~~for the member's district.~~

For the purpose of electing a candidate to serve on the Board of Directors, each voting member in good standing ~~of this Farm Bureau who resides in that District~~ shall receive a ballot and may vote by mail for not more than the number of candidates equal to the number of vacancies ~~in that District.~~ They may vote for candidates suggested ~~nominated~~ by the Nominating Committee or for a qualified candidate of the member's own choice. A card or letter ballot must be postmarked not later than ten (10) days following the date the names of prospective director nominees were mailed to the member. A member may deliver the card or letter ballot containing his vote to the office of this Farm Bureau within said ten (10) day period. Votes mailed or delivered after said ten (10) day period shall not be counted.

The prospective candidate or candidates receiving the highest number of votes ~~from their Districts~~ shall be declared the winner or winners and announced at the annual meeting by the chairman of the Credentials Committee.

Section 13. Election of I.A.A. Delegates. In connection with the annual meeting of the organization, due notice thereof having been given, one or more delegates shall be elected from and by the members in good standing engaged in the production of agricultural products to represent the members of Illinois Agricultural Association within Kane County, or the members present in such meeting may provide that such delegates shall be elected by the Board of Directors of this Farm Bureau, as provided in the By-Laws of said Association. The member qualifications, term of office, powers and duties and voting power of such delegates shall conform to the By-Laws of Illinois Agricultural Association.

ARTICLE III
The Board of Directors

Section 1. Number and Authority. The business and affairs of this Farm Bureau shall be managed by or under the direction of a Board of Directors of not less than ten (10) nor more than fifteen (15) members. The number of directors may be fixed or changed from time to time, within the minimum and the maximum, by the directors without further amendment to the By-laws. No decrease shall have the effect of shortening the term of an incumbent director. Directors shall hold office for a term of three (3) years and until their successors are elected and qualified. The terms of the Board of Directors shall be staggered in such a way that one-third of the directors are elected at each annual meeting or as near to this fraction as possible, and when adding new members of the board, the board may authorize an initial term of less than three (3) years in order to effectuate a one-third stagger.

Section 2. Qualifications. The members of the Board of Directors must be Regular Voting Members in good standing, and must at the time of their election be residents of or have a substantial agricultural interest in the ~~District from which they are elected~~ Kane County, and must be eligible to hold office under the provisions of Article II, Section 1 of these By-Laws.

of the Farm Bureau and the Kane County Environmental and Water Resources Division. In addition to its aesthetic and environmental benefits, the dual purpose (rain garden & pollinator garden) was constructed to remind farmers of their opportunity to install water quality benefits, in lieu of detention, to meet stormwater management requirements for many on-farm development projects. The “in lieu of” provisions were a significant and positive change to the Kane County Stormwater Ordinance, approved by the Kane County Board in 2019.

KCFB received the County Activities of Excellence Award

in the Public Relations and Information category. Other categories included Agriculture Promotion; Leadership Development; Membership Services; Policy Implementation; and Public Relations and Information. Twelve county Farm Bureaus from seven states were recognized in 2020. Another dozen that won the honor in 2021 will also display their ideas in Atlanta.

Kane County Farm Bureau has been recognized previously for County Activities of Excellence awards, in 2007 Touch-A-Tractor (educational event); 2008 Winner’s Choice Tractor Raffle (fundraiser); 2009 Bounty of Kane (consumer outreach); 2010 Grain for Groceries (Harvest for ALL hunger relief); 2012 SPROUTS (classroom education); and, 2015 Million Meal Challenge (hunger relief).

For 2022, the Farm Bureau is working on a grant for an expansion of the existing pollinator/rain garden to approximately five times its original 750 sq. ft. size. This proposed expansion to a landscape scale feature will allow more space for pollinator plants, addition of prairie and wetland species plants and provide for interpretive signage to help the public understand the benefits of pollinators and what farmers are doing to protect the environment.

Additional partners are sought for the 2022 expansion for site excavation, hardscapes, soil amendments, plants and plant materials and mulch. Local landscapers, garden centers and Farm Bureau members are encouraged to support the effort which will again include volunteer planting in the spring/summer of 2022, by calling KCFB at 630-584-8660.

Kane County Farm Bureau will be awarded an American Farm Bureau Federation “County Activities of Excellence” Award for 2020 for their “Public Planting-Pollinator/Rain Garden” project. Volunteers will travel to Atlanta in January to share the idea with Farm Bureau members from across the nation.

COUNTRY Financial®, IFB keep farmers updated on improved opportunities to protect farm & crops

There is always uncertainty around what spring, summer and fall may bring. COUNTRY Financial® and Illinois Farm Bureau remain ready to assist farmers through every season. The organizations are again teaming up for ten regional meetings across Illinois to share updates on improved opportunities for farmers to protect their farms and crops in 2022.

“Every farm operation is different, and our goal is always to help our farm clients and Farm Bureau members reach their goals together with options and information from a trusted partner,” said Doug Yoder, COUNTRY Financial Crop Agency Manager. “These meetings offer us the opportunity to connect with clients and members prior to the busy planting season, to make sure they have the most up-to-date information about federal crop and hail insurance options, learn about new coverage options from COUNTRY and gain a better understanding of changes in markets and government that they may need to consider, so they can make informed decisions for their operation.”

The ten meetings co-hosted by COUNTRY Financial and Illinois Farm Bureau will take place throughout January and February. Eight meetings will be held in-person across the state, and there will be two virtual presentations. All meetings will include:

- Crop Insurance Update, including changes to federal crop insurance and new private products offered by COUNTRY, the #1 crop hail insurer in Illinois. (Doug Yoder, Crop Agency Manager for COUNTRY Financial)
- Crop Claims Update (COUNTRY Financial Crop Claims Representative)
- Market Outlook (Tim Tresslar, Grain Origination Manager for Growmark)
- Legislative Update (Illinois Farm Bureau)
- Opportunity for Audience Q&A with presenters

The first meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, January 18th at Dekalb County Farm Bureau, starting at 8:00 AM. (full schedule of events is listed below) Each event is open to any Illinois farmer. Registration opens December 13, 2021 for each event. To register and reserve a seat for any of the ten events, farmers should call their county farm bureau office. A full directory of Illinois county Farm Bureau offices can be found at <https://www.ilfb.org/about-us/directory/>. Farm Bureau members can also login at www.myifb.org to register online.

KCFB seeking Board candidates

The Kane County Farm Bureau is seeking eligible candidates for election to the association’s Board of Directors. A Farm Bureau director is an individual who helps provide governance, set policies, and supports the philosophy and actions of the organization. Directors should be willing to dedicate time to make a difference in agriculture and to provide direction, inspiration, and motivation to the largest, most influential and effective farm related organization in Kane County.

Eligible candidates are regular Farm Bureau members (farmers and farmland owners) residing in Kane County.

Five directors will be elected, by ballots mailed in in the spring of 2022 to voting members in Kane County.

To suggest potential candidates for election, members should call 630-584-8660, or fill out the form below.

AG LITERACY CORNER

By Kelcee Miller, Development & Ag Literacy Program Coordinator

Hello Kane County!

Can we believe the holiday season is already upon us? I am one of those people who starts the celebrations early. Yes, I am that person who wants to start listening to Christmas music and decorating for Christmas right after Halloween. Not that I am trying to bypass Thanksgiving or the importance of that day, because I do enjoy Thanksgiving celebrations with my friends and family, however there's just something extra special about Christmas to me that I just can't wait to begin the festivities and make that time of year last just a little bit longer!

As I have gotten older, I realize more and more about the importance of time and to do more of what makes YOU happy. Sure, some people may look at me and think I am a crazy lady for jamming to Mariah Carey's "All I Want for Christmas is You" on November 1st on my way to work, but it makes me happy and that's all that matters! My advice to you reading this is to spend your time wisely and do more of what makes you happy this holiday season even if it means putting up your Christmas tree in November!

I think all too often we get in such a rush during the holidays that we sometimes forget to actually slow down, be present and enjoy the time with our friends and family. Time is a gift we can never get back so why are we always trying to rush it and stressing ourselves out? My challenge to you reading this during this holiday season is to slow down and be present. Take pictures, play games, create lasting memories with your loved ones. It will be a gift that keeps on giving every year.

And speaking of gifts this holiday season, try not to stress yourself out about the "perfect" gift or the amount of money to spend. With everything going on in the world there are a lot of things up in the air, prices increasing and there will be things out of our control. As adults we all know that is easier said than done sometimes, especially when you have a large family or have many gift giving occasions. The holidays are not about going broke to give the perfect gift. The truth of the matter is, the holidays are not about the gifts. Do you think I remember all the gifts I have gotten over the years? Absolutely not. I remember the moments and memories that money can't necessarily buy. I remember the holiday traditions with my family, conversations, card games, silly photos, baking Christmas cookies with my grandma, blaring holiday music and dancing with my dad, watching Christmas movies with my nephews, and so much more. It's about who you spend your time with and the memories made.

If you are still looking for gifts for your loved ones this holiday season, I encourage you to shop small. Go check out some of your local shops and boutiques downtown. Support your local community.

I encourage you and your family to do more of what makes you happy this holiday season and remember that to be present and enjoy the memories in the making!

Happy December!

Young Leader Conference registration open

We are excited to announce the return of the Illinois Farm Bureau Young Leader Conference in 2022 on January 21-22, 2022 in East Peoria! Registration is now open and will close on Friday, December 17 at noon. Book of the month

Did you hear the news?! Santa Claus is coming to town! No, really, Santa. Is. Coming. In just a few short weeks the man in the red suit with his reindeer and sleigh filled with holiday toys for every good little girl and boy will be coming to town! Have you been good? Santa and his elves are packing up their presents and will be heading our way soon!

Have you ever wondered the route Santa takes when he visits Illinois? See how in our book of the Month of December, Santa is coming to Illinois, written by Steve Smallman and illustrated by Robert Dunn and Amerigo Pinelli. This is the holiday tale of Santa's journey from the North Pole to Illinois on a starry Christmas Eve. Readers will see the magic that occurs throughout Santa's travels from rooftop to rooftop all over Illinois, delivering packages of all shapes and sizes to the good little girls and boys in Illinois.

To see the eventful and festive journey Santa and his reindeer take when they visit Illinois, come on in to the Kane County Farm Bureau Library – yes, we have a FREE library! – And check out Santa is coming to Illinois.

Chicago's Christmas tree tradition & Kane Connection

The first official Christmas tree in the city of Chicago was installed in 1913 in Grant Park by then-mayor Carter Harrison – a 35-foot tall spruce tree. Beginning with Christmas 1966 the official Chicago Christmas tree was placed in Civic Center Plaza, now known as Daley Plaza. For years, the official tree was constructed of multiple trees, but in 2008 the city decided the tradition was too costly to maintain, and began in 2009 to display an individual tree.

The 2009 Daley Plaza Christmas tree was an individual tree donated by a family in Palos Heights.

In 2010, for the first time, the Daley Plaza Christmas tree was chosen through a contest. Chosen from three finalists, the winning tree, was donated by a McHenry family.

For 2015, the Chicago Christmas Tree was moved to a new location in Millennium Park.

The official Chicago Christmas tree has varied in height from the 35-foot spruce used in 1913 to the 85-foot tree used in 2008. The contest rules in 2010 laid out a number of prerequisites that were required of the winning tree, one of which is that the tree must be found within 100 miles of the Chicago Loop and in a location from which it could safely be removed.

Two of the donated trees in the past eight years have been from Kane County – a 57 foot Colorado Blue Spruce donated by the Atkinson family of Elgin in 2014, and a 55 foot Blue Spruce donated by the Nelson family of Elgin in 2019.

Christmas treats for eyes and tastebuds

No-bake Chocolate Coconut Snowballs

Ingredients

- 3 cups old-fashioned rolled oats
- 3 cups sweetened shredded coconut
- 1/2 cup (1 stick) unsalted butter
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup milk
- 6 tablespoons unsweetened natural or Dutch-process cocoa powder
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract

Instructions

Place the oats and 1 cup of shredded coconut in a large bowl. Set aside.

Combine the butter, sugar, milk, cocoa, and salt together in a large saucepan over medium heat. Whisk until the butter melts and then bring to a boil. Allow to boil for 1 minute without whisking. Remove from heat, stir in the vanilla extract, then pour over the oats/coconut. Stir until combined. Cover tightly with aluminum foil or plastic wrap and chill for at least 45 minutes and up to 2-3 days.

Meanwhile, pulse the remaining coconut in a food processor to break it down. It's easier to coat the balls when the coconut shreds are broken up/smaller.

Line two baking sheets with parchment paper or silicone baking mats. Make sure there is enough room in the refrigerator for the baking sheets.

Using a 1-tablespoon cookie scoop (or spoon), roll into 1 tablespoon balls. The mixture may get a little sticky as you work, but just form into a ball as best as you can. Roll balls in coconut and place on the baking sheets. Refrigerate for at least 30-60 minutes to "set"

Snowballs will stay fresh covered at room temperature for 3 days or in the refrigerator for 1 week.

DIY Cinnamon ornaments materials

- 1 c. ground cinnamon
- 2 tsp. ground nutmeg
- 2 tsp. ground cloves
- 3/4 cup applesauce
- Christmas cookie cutters
- Drinking straw
- Ribbon or twine
- Rolling Pin
- Mixing bowl & spoon
- Wax Paper

Instructions

Preheat oven to 200 degrees and line a baking sheet with parchment paper.

In a large bowl, combine all of the ingredients, mixing until well combined and dough begins to form.

Sprinkle your surface with extra cinnamon to avoid sticking, empty dough mixture onto the surface and knead the dough, then roll it into a ball. Roll out your dough flat with rolling pin about 1/4 inch thick.

Using your Christmas cookie cutters, cut out cinnamon shapes and lay them onto the parchment paper. Using a drinking straw, poke a hole in the ornament where you want the string to go through. Leave a little bit of space between as a buffer so the ornament does not break.

Bake in the oven for 2 hours. Let the ornament cool, thread a ribbon or twine through the hole and tie a knot. Decorate as desired, hang and admire!

brated with artificial trees.) I reasoned that my family had used the same style of tree stand in my childhood for fresh-cut trees. But telling your new husband how his father-in-law does the job likely ranks a top 10 no-no in the book of happily ever after.

Memories trim the tree

The first test of our marriage arrived with our first Christmas tree. I wanted the picture-perfect experience: Newlyweds strolling through the local tree farm. Big, falling snowflakes. Lots of laughter while wearing a cute stocking hat with matching mittens. You know, just in case someone would snap our photo for a magazine cover.

In reality, I cannot remember anything about that first tree-hunting experience except the trials of getting the tree to stand upright in the living room.

For years following that first Christmas, my husband told relatives, friends and any newly married man of when he had to cut a board from the garage wall to strengthen the “cheap tree stand” I had purchased. (An important note: His family celebrate with artificial trees.) I reasoned that my family had used the same style of tree stand in my childhood for fresh-cut trees. But telling your

Our teenage kids love the fresh-cut tradition, and we can relate to those tree farm families in the thick of a harvest season that just ended for us. While growing a different Illinois crop, we share the same connection to the land and aspirations for the next generation. I hope those tree farm owners also find satisfaction in the life-lasting memories they create for families like ours. Twenty years ago, guests placed gifts under a fresh Christmas tree at our late summer wedding. We called it the “wedding tree,” a 12-foot scotch pine with silver ribbon, heart ornaments and glass balls containing childhood photos. The local tree farm gifted us the tree, which married my enjoyment of Christmas trees with the traditional gift table. My groom had suspicions at “I do” what he was getting into.

About the author: Joanie Stiers farms with her family in West-Central Illinois, where they grow corn, soybeans, wheat, hay and cover crops and raise beef cattle and backyard chickens. She loves the Christmas season and listens to holiday music in the tractor radio during harvest.

Illinois to ‘build army of conservation stewards’ for monarchs, KCFB to help

Illinois kick-started work on a statewide plan to protect monarch butterflies in October of last year with a virtual gathering of people from across the state to launch the Monarch Action Plan.

A month earlier, leaders of four state agencies, IDNR, IDOT, IEPA and the Illinois Department of Agriculture, signed the Illinois Monarch Action Plan. See it at <http://illinoismonarchproject.org/>.

Fast forward to October 2021 and Illinois Farm Bureau released its “Pollinator Habitat Guide for Agricultural Landscapes”, consolidating information from a variety of resources into one easy how-to guide for farmers and rural landowners. Find it online at www.ilfb.org/Pollinators.

According to IDNR Director Colleen Callahan, it is fitting for Illinois to be involved. “We’re in the heart of the monarch flyway,” Callahan said. And every action helps. Callahan noted IDNR had expanded its pollinator plot on the Illinois State Fairgrounds in Springfield.

Pollinator habitat may be added in unique locations, she said. As more solar energy installations are built, the ground underneath solar panels “would be a great place for pollinator plots to be planted,” Callahan said.

IDNR’s Natural Heritage Division, explained the monarch plan was developed to provide op into butterflies.

Illinois could achieve its milkweed goal if every resident planted 12 milkweeds or four stems were planted on every acre. While that wouldn’t be reasonable, everyone can do the most we can, according to IDNR, and KCFB can help.

For 2022, the Farm Bureau is working on a grant for an expansion of the existing pollinator/rain garden to approximately 5 times its original 750 sq. ft. size. This proposed expansion to a landscape scale feature will allow more space for pollinator plants, addition of prairie and wetland species plants and provide for interpretative signage to help the public understand the benefits of pollinators and what farmers are doing to protect the environment.

Additional partners are sought for the 2022 expansion for site excavation, hardscapes, soil amendments, plants and plant materials and mulch. Local landscapers, garden centers and Farm Bureau members are encouraged to support the effort which will again include volunteer planting in the spring/summer of 2022 by calling KCFB at 630-584-8660.

the state with a cohesive effort relevant across Illinois’ diverse landscape and supported by diverse groups. The state wants to “build an army of conservation stewards” for monarchs, according to IDNR. One of the plan’s goals is to add 150 million new stems of milkweed, the host plant for the monarch. Without milkweed, monarch larva would not be able to devel-

Honey, it’s time to stuff the stockings!

Christmas is coming whether you’re ready or not, so why not get a jump on stocking up on stocking stuffers? The Kane County Farm Bureau is featuring a collection of “the perfect stocking stuffers” for the people who have made it onto your “nice” list.

Mini-honey bears from White Farms in Elburn are priced at $2.50 for a 2 oz, bear shaped jar or buy 2 jars for $4. These sweet little bears will be a hit come Christmas morning. Honey is the natural sweetener that everyone loves and pure local honey has many healing properties as well. $1 from each mini-honey bear sale will benefit the KCFB FOUNDATION.

Besides mini-honey bears, we have a collection of local Illinois treats including Pilot Knob blue or red “hull-less” popcorn ($2), the ever popular Pork BBQ Spice ($10.50), and Teeple Barn collectible coffee mugs ($5).

We’ll also have fried and honey crunch peanuts, fresh pecans and other salty and sweet snacks and treats.

If you’re looking for stocking stuffers for the mini farmers on your nice list, we also have plenty of mini-tractors, trucks, ATV’s, and various farm animals from TOMY.

Whatever your holiday needs, the Kane County Farm Bureau’s Country Store has something for everyone. Stop in and visit us Mon-Fri, 8:30am-4:30pm @ 2N710 Randall Rd, cross street is Oak in St. Charles.

Mini-honey bears are a thoughtful, sweet little gift for your honey.

THE 'WHITE' CHAIR

By Alice Macha
Communications Coordinator

My husband and I had a running joke about the "white" chair. It is actually a green recliner, and was a "purrfect" snoozing spot for our white and gray cat. A week of cat naps would give the chair a soft, gauzy haze of snowy cat hair, and we would joke back and forth about whose turn it was to vacuum the "white" chair.

The white cat came into my life at a time when I needed a positive note. My previous two cats had passed away a few months before of old age-related issues. My siblings and I were moving my ailing father and stepmother into a skilled nursing facility in Batavia and it was very difficult to see dad there. My boyfriend (now husband) wasn't keen on cats and was cautiously optimistic that I was "done with cats."

A chance stop at Geneva PetSmart to burn time before a Tuesday doctor visit turned out to be fortuitous. I was at the door to the pet adoption room when a woman stepped out, telling me to "Watch out for the white one, he bites."

I stepped into the little room and strolled down the line of cages, surveying grooming, sleeping, disinterested tabbies and ginger, my heart in dry dock. Suddenly, a small white paw reached out, patted my hand, my chest, and my nose. I looked into the bright green, inquisitive eyes of a young cat and thought, oh oh.

I went back on the following Saturday and the white cat was a mess, feverish and wheezy with an upper respiratory infection. But when I sat on the floor at PetSmart, he climbed right into my lap and purred as I pet him. My heart began to repair.

The next day, as I read over the adoption paperwork, I learned that my cat was a six month old kitten. I almost called the whole thing off because I didn't want the worries of a naughty kitten with my full time job. But a deal was a deal and I felt obligated to bring my little cat home and settle him in my office, a temporary confined space until he earned the run of the house.

The next day I came home from work after worrying all day about the cat, with visions of chewed computer cables, litter box mishaps and mischief and mayhem. When I opened the office door, the office was intact and the cat was settled in my office chair, greeting me with a stretch and a purr. My heart began to float a little.

And so began 11 years of smooth sailing with a wonderful, joyful little creature who was playful, affectionate, clever, gentle and feisty. He and my boyfriend hit it off and played rowdy games with feather wands, toy mice and a laser pointer. The cat would leap onto our shoulders and give us head butts or settle in like a warm, soft, purring stole. I told my sister that I thought the white cat was very clever. She said, "Do ya think? He has a guy who doesn't like cats wrapped around his paw!"

The cat traveled between my house and my boyfriends', at ease and comfortable in either home. He knew if he was with us, he was home. And when we married, he was happy to settle permanently in my husband's home, patrolling rooms, catching spiders, watching birds at the

Did You Know?

According to an October 2020 survey of 2,200 American adults, nearly half (45%) correctly ranked agriculture as the smallest contributor to greenhouse gas emissions by economic sector. In fact, according to the latest EPA data, agriculture accounts for 10% of total U.S. emissions, far less than the transportation, electricity production, commercial and residential, and industry sectors.

Total U.S. Greenhouse Gas Emissions by Economic Sector in 2019

U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (2021). Inventory of U.S. Greenhouse Gas Emissions and Sinks: 1990-2019

Total Emissions in 2019 = 6,558 Million Metric Tons of CO₂ equivalent. Percentages may not add up to 100% due to independent rounding. Land Use including Agriculture and Forestry in the United States is a net sink and removes approximately 12 percent of these greenhouse gas emissions, this net sink is NOT shown in the above diagram. Landowners can apply for conservation easements through NRCS

Illinois Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) is accepting applications for the Agricultural Conservation Easement Program-Agricultural Land Easements (ACEP-ALE).

NRCS State Conservationist Ivan Dozier said all eligible applications on file Dec. 10 would be considered for fiscal year (FY) 2022 funding. For FY 2022, NRCS has $423,000 available.

Interested landowners need to find an entity who is willing to help in the purchase of the easement. If you do not know of an entity that would work, contact your local NRCS office to get more information about the type of entity that would hold an Agriculture Land Easement.

Through conservation easements, NRCS provides financial assistance to eligible partners or entities to assist landowners with the purchase of Agricultural Land Easements (ALE).

Eligible entities include state and local governments and non-governmental organizations that have farmland or grassland protection programs.

"Easements are a powerful way to actually prevent conversion of productive working lands across Illinois to non-agricultural uses and conserve vital grazing land and pastures," Dozier said.

The ALE sign-up is continuous; however, the Dec. 10 cut-off allows eligible applications to compete for funding. Applications received by Dec. 10 will be ranked in January and funding decisions will be made by NRCS after Jan. 28.

Due to COVID-19 restrictions, farmers should call to set up appointments with local NRCS office staff. Visit www.nrcs.usda.gov to learn more.

Fresh Citrus

Come December 16, KCFB MAY have limited quantities of fresh Citrus available from our bulk truckload sale to members on December 15. Citrus orders were due in November, but we always try to order a bit extra for those who may miss the order deadline! Perfect for the holidays and for gift giving. Oranges, grapefruit & clementines, (in boxes, or mixed 10 pound bags) as well as limited quantities of nuts & chocolates. Call 630-584-8660 for more information.

Farm toy of the month

Our December toy of the month is a Farm Toy Set chock-full of farm equipment for ages 5 and up.
